What's in it for you?

When you're a member of Maryland

Public Television, you're part of a bigger world. Of course, it starts with your TV and the programming, but you'll discover that there's so much more that you can do, so much more that you can discover.

MPT is a portal to adventure, knowledge, insight into local and national affairs, and quality entertainment for everyone from age one to one hundred — all commercial free. And that's something no other television station, no cable system, no "pay-per" program can offer you.

What do you want to learn?

Here's one of the most important ways that MPT can help to enrich your mind. We're a powerhouse for educational resources, including:

- Thinkport.org
- K-12 Instructional Television Service
- GED on TV
- College of the Air
- Online field trips
- Teacher training and professional development
- Learning in child-care settings
- Lesson plans, homework help and more

On the air, into the local community.

Do you know about all the ways you can use MPT? We're on the air, in your neighborhood, and throughout Maryland, helping to bring you the best of our incredible region. Look to MPT for:

- Quality programming.
- Political debates between the candidates who will represent you in the years ahead.
- Concerts featuring performances by our area's world-renowned talent.
- Special interest clubs with people who share your passion for food or travel.
- The MPT Web site, which connects you to a world of learning, special events, goes behind the scenes, and links you to shows when you'd like to find out more.
