NEWS RELEASE

mpt Maryland Public Television

11767 Owings Mills Blvd. | Owings Mills, MD 21117 | mpt.org

August 21, 2025
For immediate release

Contacts:

Michael MacFee | mmacfee@mpt.org | 410-581-4262 Emily O'Donnell | eodonnell@nevinspr.com | 443-686-1331

MPT to offer exclusive live regional coverage of the 2025 Maryland Cycling Classic

America's top one-day pro cycling race takes place in Baltimore City on Saturday, September 6

OWINGS MILLS, MD – Maryland Public Television (MPT) will again serve as the exclusive regional broadcaster of the Maryland Cycling Classic taking place in Baltimore on Saturday, September 6. The statewide public TV network will offer viewers up to nine hours of live coverage of the prestigious professional cycling race on MPT-HD, the MPT livestream, and the free PBS app.

The Maryland Cycling Classic will feature competitive cyclists from around the world including Tour de France participants, world champions, national champions, Olympians, and cycling heroes from 30 countries. Competitors include top teams from Europe and North America as well as the Benin National Team, which is slated to make history at the Maryland Cycling Classic as the first African female national team to participate in a major American pro road race.

The event is considered America's premier one-day pro cycling race. It is also a UCI ProSeries one-day international cycling race sanctioned by the Union Cycliste Internationale (UCI) and USA Cycling. The race is hosted by the City of Baltimore and the State of Maryland.

MPT's Maryland Cycling Classic coverage begins at 8 a.m. with a 30-minute preview show prior to the women's race, featuring sports broadcaster Jim Hunter anchoring the MPT Sports Desk from Owings Mills. MPT reporters Sue Kopen, Nancy Yamada, and Charles Robinson will offer features on the women's race and a local bike event, while former professional champion road-racing cyclist Fred "Fast Freddie" Rodriguez and other special guests will join in from the course to offer pre-race analysis and insights.

MPT will broadcast the women's race starting at 8:30 a.m. Live coverage will continue through the men's race winner crossing the finish line and the podium award ceremony, which is estimated to take place around 4:30 p.m. The network's coverage will wrap up with a post-race MPT Sports Desk segment. More information is available at mpt.org/MarylandCyclingClassic.

With 28 turns, the 2025 racecourse covers a route of nearly 18 miles. The women's race will be comprised of four laps totaling 71.6 miles, while the men's race will include six laps for a total distance of 107.4 miles. Both races will start at the Harbor Point District's Central Plaza and finish on East Pratt Street at the Inner Harbor. The course will feature Fan Zones along the route where viewers can watch the live race.

During a recent press conference, Baltimore Mayor Brandon Scott indicated that he expects approximately 100,000 spectators citywide to cheer on the competitors.

MPT provided similar broadcast coverage during the second edition of the Maryland Cycling Classic in 2023. The race did not take place in 2024.

Visit MarylandCyclingClassic.us for up-to-date information about the full schedule of race weekend events.

###

About Maryland Public Television

Maryland Public Television (MPT) is a statewide, public-supported TV network and Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) member offering entertaining and educational content delivered by traditional broadcasting and streaming on TVs, computers, and mobile devices via its online video player and the free PBS app. A state agency operating under the auspices of the Maryland Public Broadcasting Commission, MPT also produces local, regional, and national programming and frequently earns regional Emmy® awards for its work. MPT's commitment to educators, parents, caregivers, and learners of all ages is delivered through its Maryland Center for Media Literacy & Education and Thinkport.org. MPT's year-round community engagement activities connect viewers with resources covering a wide range of topics. More information is available at mpt.org.